This website's disclaimer.

By reading this article and all published info on this website you acknowledge to accept this disclaimer – or exit now – all related info reflects Manjaro's views and suggestions about the "real" APBT breed of dog and nor necessary yours or anyone else's viewpoint – but I assure you it will be straight down the line historically factual without white washing or sugar-coating the "real/" APBR breed of dog – the canine domes gated dog created by the folly of man - my choice of dog.

If you have a burning desire to know more about the real APBT breed of sporting game dogs and are passionate about them - if this breed became your choice of dog breed – interested about their history, traits, behaviours, abilities, conditioning, breed standards and conformation, feeding, nutrition, supplements, herbs and health - then read on and if in any doubt about "this content" do your own research.

All information given on this web site are intended as a source and point of reference (starting point) only.

Therefore it is not intended to replace a one-on-one relationship with a qualified pet health care or nutritionist professional and also not intended as medical advice.

You are therefore hereby encourages to make your own dog health care decisions based upon your research and in partnership with a qualified pet health care professional.

Most of the information given is submitted by professionals taken from various APBT internet sources - from references to research studies and from books about the "real" APBT – also from the daily hands on experience from APBT dog breeders and APBT dog owners in all walks of life from their own experience and research about this breed - also from raw feeding canine dog groups and canine health and nutrition groups.

Either come to know about it and do more research yourself or ignore.
But realize some facts are beyond reasoning.

Please note! ... Always first seek guidance from your local Vet, Holistic vet or animal nutritionist.

Make sure there are no after effect warnings for any particular medicine, nutrition or herbal treatment with (your) individual animal (APBT), as well as the potential for interactions with conventional medication.

Please use your good judgement.

As breeder I don't proclaim to be a Veterinarian, animal nutritionist or dog behaviourist ... but I have been an active dog owner - breeder for 50 years and a keen student of the APBT since 1982 – then for game working dogs and came personally to know these APBT dogs with their awesome abilities traits and character.

About the use of correct nutrition canine foods, supplements, herbs, nutraceuticals and alternative medicines:

When choosing to use any of the items or protocols suggested in any articles on this website, it is your responsibility to ensure safe use of the item/protocol.

Know that food, supplements, herbs, nutraceuticals and alternative medicines all have drug interactions, most also have health issue contradictions and some have side effects.

Use of these substances and protocols are your responsibility and choice. Prior to use of any substance or protocol – first talk to your vet and or make sure you do your research - check for all cautions, contradictions, interactions, side effects.

If in doubt do not use the substance or protocol.

If the substance, or protocol is contradicted for your animal do not use. If your animal has an underlying condition you are not aware of "some" substances may conflict with that condition.

Know that the real meaning of holistic.

Food, herbs, nutraceuticals and alternative medicines are NOT 'holistic' they are a substance and MAY, or may NOT be 'NATURAL'.

It is important to keep in mind that the supplement industry is just as unethical as the BigPharma, the Food and Pet Food Industry, and unfortunately many veterinarians.

Holistic is a way of approaching life, and within that - overall health, and wellbeing.

Please do not expect a natural substance to miraculously remedy a health or behavioural situation.

A natural substance may be used to treat symptoms.

However, if the factors causing the underlying issue are not properly identified, analysed and addressed you do not have a remedy.

Remedy requires a comprehensive approach that identifies root cause, seeks to remove items that trigger, cause or otherwise contribute to issues, builds a complete detailed approach to immediate treatment, remedy, and maintenance of long-term health = holistic.

Talk to your holistic Vet for more information.
