About registering and registration of APBT.

Please note and be aware of this!

Today within "some" APBT circles, then with "some" APBT fanciers and even "some" breeders ... they only register their dogs and sometimes offspring on "on line data bases". This then can and do cause problems for the new owner to register such a pup with an APBT registration or association and more so if some dogs in that online pedigree also was nor registered before, it might then become impossible to obtain a legal pedigree registration (especially important if you a registered breeder).

For "some" - understandable - that this is their choice and they maintains that a pedigree registration with an accepted APBT registration does not make the dog – or - make them more dog.

Then of course it might stand to reason “the safety aspect for that dog’s owner or the breeder’s identity – understandable the “some” might have problems with that – especially because of the ban of APBT in some countries.

Also understandable for “some” – that do register their dogs and offspring, then for the privilege to breed or compete with the APBT as sporting dog today in organized APBT abilityshows or in other disciplines where a pedigree registration document are required ... (the same goes for microchipping and the owners information that will become public knowledge) then reflecting the purebred status and thus the dog’s and owners identity and performance of the dog at hand and a clear registration of the ancestors of that specific dogs family tree. (Also realizing the practice of some breeders not to reveal their dog’s specific breeding for other opposition owners and breeders to know how the dog bloodlines was put together).

From “some” breeders view point – and then “most new owners” also by choice- they proud themselves with the pedigree registration and affiliation with a registry. And the ancestors bloodlines of the dogs in the pedigree – knowing possibility to breed and register the pups to be pedigrees with an accepted registry of their choice.

Knowledgeable breeders know very well that this information regarding proven dogs and bloodlines in the pedigrees are then most important and useful in any breeding principals.

At Manjaro Kennels all our meticulously selected pure bred and top bloodline and performance proven registered American Pit Bull terrier breeding dogs (bred from no fear never give up attitude, proven workable temperament and best local sporting working and registered pedigree bloodline combination dogs) and related puppies are proudly registered with the SADBA (South African Dog Breeders association).

As registered breeder I am also breeder registered at any one or more APBT on line registration databases and their kennel registration and all my dogs will be traceable.

Manjaro APBT kennels SADBA registration is A22A/2007

As mentioned above it is also a well-known fact that some well-known and respected breeders of excellent purebred sporting APBT dogs do not register pups and might give a handwritten pedigree—then it might be necessary to trace and register such a pup (if it is your – the new owners intention for whatever the reason).

Potential buyers should verify this beforehand and can also get some background of the breeder's integrity with the registration body – for Manjaro dogs ... the SADBA telephone number is 011 894 2167. The SADBA affiliated with the ADBA is the first registering body for "real "purebred American Pit Bull Terrier game sporting dogs in South Africa.

You as possible new owner of any Manjaro dog will receive the pup's SADBA registration pedigree document with purchasing a Manjaro bred APBT sporting dog or puppy.

You can also pursue the breeding dog's pedigrees before the purchase on Manjaro's website www.pitbullsa.co.za (or on the online "Game dog pedigree database" or on request via E mailed) and you will also find these pedigrees on most of the other on line APBT data bases via the internet.

You can also (recommended) re-register ownership of your Manjaro pup with the SADBA or any other registration body of your preference – then using the original given SADBA pedigree – some show APBT affiliations only allow their members to use a specific registry – why I don't know.

Looking at the role of a registration body.

An accurate stud book is essential for owners and breeders who carefully plan breeding's and is diligent in the selection of quality brood stock.

Without a true pedigree (family tree) behind the breeding dogs, there would be no way to predict what type of offspring expected will be produced and/or assure that quality pure bred APBT dogs might be produced for the future.

Every registration office throughout time has had to rely on the integrity of the breeders who submit paperwork into the office for the accuracy of the studbook. From my viewpoint, registration is as important for any purebred dog breed as a means to track the validity of the purebred status.

At Manjaro kennel our mission is to protect and preserve the APBT in its original form—"real" APBT game bred working sporting and family dogs with typical unreal friendly human temperament as workable temperament and willingness - no mix breeding, bully breeds, merle or blue pits or overly white here. Then by registration of all breeding's and with relevant full parent registered pedigrees ... thereby guarantee there purebred status.

Having such an animal "registered" is a stamp of approval from the APBT registration body that the breeder has fulfilled the requirements in record keeping, transferring ownership possibilities and the pedigree can be deemed accurate. If a registry is strictly "in it for the money generated" and has little or no requirements or integrity, and allows any dog rescued from the any dog pound, stolen or be it "look -alike pit bull" to be registered (even open pedigrees) for a fee or free online registration, then having a "registered" dog with that organization means very little if not nothing!

A registration body purpose is to strive that your registration will be genuine and to mean something (for some with pride“means everything’) and you can be sure that when you register with the SADBA your registration will.

The SADBA also reserves the right to void these papers at any time in the event of fraudulent application and / or protest of purebred status or illegal claimed ownership is proven.

If you have any further question regarding registration contact me at Manjaro's or the SADBA directly.
