Cost effective way of breeding.

Sr Cathy Rood

This might be very important for a breeder.

I believe in storing semen as a cost effective way of breeding.

Keeping and utilizing frozen semen on ice and it's not as expensive as everyone believes, storage of this semen costs +- R1500.00 a year.

The actual artificial insemination +- R 2500.00 at the facility. {Compare this to +- R 70000.00 for importing a pup into RSA.

You can't pay for a decent game bred dog and the cost raising her and then the coast of breeding her to a Gr Ch or other sought after stud – or a sought after stud dog for a mere +- R 4000.00 - then to still breed any time in future.

Also talking in consideration you don't have to share puppies.
